SCHOOLS IN TURKEY.

How Young Moslems Are Taught to Acquire Knowledge.

They Sit All Day on a Mat and Yell at the Tops of Their Voices—Committing Whole Books to Memory—Peculiar Customs.

If the stranger in a Moslem country in passing through the streets is attracted by a noise for which he can not satisfactorily account toward the building in which the school is held, he will, on looking in, probably see a long and narrow room, at one end of which is seated a man with a long beard (schoolmasters retain their beards even when whiskers only are sanctioned by general usage), while the sides are lined with little boys at various ages squatted upon their heels on the floor, which is generally covered with a thick mat, in addition to which those parents who can afford it provide their sons with a bit of carpet or felt in Persia, or with a cushion in Turkey, to place between them and the mat. Some of the older boys go so far as to obtain a cushion to introduce between their backs and the wall, but this luxury is rather discountenanced by the masters as an encroachment on their own peculiar dignities. All the boys have their heads covered, but they are without their shoes, which are left near the door, so mingled and so similar in shape and color that it would seem difficult for each to find his own; but on the breaking up every one seems to slip his feet into his own shoes without any of that individual hesitation or general confusion which might be expected.

When the boys are learning their lessons, or repeating them to their master, they do so all at once with a loud voice, and with a continual see-saw of the body, without which movement they seem to conceive it impossible that any thing can be learned. The scene which this affords is extremely ludicrous to a European, particularly as the zeal of the learner is estimated by the loudness of his voice and the violence of his seesaw; and hence, when conscious of the approach of a person whom the master or pupils wish to impress with a favorable opinion of their application and progress the noise in the school-room, which may previously have sunk into a low hum, rises abruptly to the clamorous uproar of many voices. It seems that in reading all at once to the master the elder boys, in the school at large, are expected to give some attention to the others near them. The master can not, in such a noise, distinguish the individual accuracy of each reader, and his attention is therefore directed to observe that time is as nearly as may be kept by the voices, and, in some measure, in the motions also of the pupils. This object seems but poorly attained. This style of reading is most unnatural. It is a drawling chant, uttered in a very loud voice.

In the East generally the tone of the voice is very high, even in common conversation, but in reading it is raised to screaming. Some Arabs desired a friend of mine to let them hear him read, writes a correspondent of the London Standard. He complied, on which they exclaimed: "You are not reading, you are talking!" The fact, however, is that except among those of the learned professions, few of those who have professedly learned to read in the schools can or do exercise the acquirement in after life; and the few who do remain actually qualified to read with facility rarely do so without some stimulus incomparably stronger than would be required in this or, perhaps, any European country. After a residence of several years among Mohammedan people, I do not recollect more than three instances in which I have seen persons quietly engaged in reading a book to themselves, all the actions of their ordinary life are much more exposed to public notice than can well be imagined in this country.

These facts are easily explained. Books are expensive articles of luxury in Mohammedan countries, and this is alone sufficient to account for much that we have stated. Before the introduction of the art of printing the state of knowledge among the people was not more favorable in this country than it is in Persia now. There is also another less obvious circumstance, which would have great influence even were the manuscript books much more common and cheap than they are. This is the difficulty of reading manuscript. This difficulty should not be underrated. Even in this country most educated persons would require considerable stimulus to induce them to go through a manuscript volume. Those only whose duty it is to examine manuscripts and to prepare them for the press can describe the tediousness of the operation. It is not one of the least advantages of printing that it has tended to simplify the character employed in the preparation of books and to render it uniform. This comparison very imperfectly illustrates our meaning, for our manuscripts are far more legible to us than those of the East are to an Oriental.

Among ourselves many persons who can write shorthand with facility are unable to read it with ease; an Oriental manuscript is a sort of shorthand which many more persons are able to write than read. The words are abbreviated, as in shorthand, by the omission of vowels, and when the words are deciphered the want of punctuation renders it often difficult to discover at once the meaning of the phrases. When to this it is added that there are several different styles of writing, besides the difference occasioned in the several manuscripts by the variety of individual hands and flourishes, it will be perceived that a person can not read with facility without more practice than the state of literature and knowledge encourages any considerable number of students to seek or enables them to obtain. A stranger is very liable to be deceived in estimating the competency of a Mohammedan to read. A very large part of common education consists in learning by heart a considerable portion of current literature, particularly of the Koran. He is, therefore, able to repeat by rote the most striking passages of almost any of the very limited number of books which are likely to be placed before him. He will turn over its leaves until he can find some passage with which he is acquainted, and will repeat it correctly as if from the book; but, if suddenly interrupted, he is afterward quite unable to indicate the part of the page at which the interruption took place.

Artificial Emeralds.

The method by which Messrs. Hautefeuille and Perry have succeeded in producing very beautiful crystals of emerald has been described to the French Academy of Sciences. Silica, alumina and glucina (with traces of oxide of chromium) were fused with acid molybdate of lithia, a temperature of from 600 to 700 degrees being maintained for fifteen days. Crystals about one twenty-fifth of an inch in diameter, with the mineralogical and physical characteristics of the natural emerald, were obtained.

THE CENTURY MAGAZINE IN 1889.

WHY Has it such an enormous circulation? Experts estimate that between two and three millions of people read each number.

BECAUSE THE CENTURY is above every thing a leader. It led the development of wood-engraving in America, and it has fostered American authors. It is alive to the issues of to-day. What it prints sets people to thinking and talking.

BECAUSE Whatever other periodicals may come into the family, the great reading world has found out that "no household can keep abreast of the times without THE CENTURY." "Its success is explained by its contents."

BECAUSE The greatest writers of the world like to have their work read by the greatest number, and therefore to such a magazine as THE CENTURY the best naturally comes. It was for THE CENTURY that General Grant first wrote his reminiscenses of important battles.

BECAUSE It is publishing the life of Abrahan Lincoln, by his private secretaries. Of this it has been said, "The young man who is not reading it robs himself of that which he will hunger for." The coming year presents the most important part of this great history, which may begin at any time.

BECAUSE It is printing those remarkable articles on "Siberia and the Exile System," by George Kennan, which are attracting universal attention and are being reprinted in hundreds of foreign newspapers, but are not allowed to enter Russia. The "Chicago Tribune" says that "no other magazine articles printed in the English language just now touch upon a subject which so vitally interests all thoughtful people in Europe and America and Asia." They are "as judicial as the opinion of a Supreme Court tribunal—as thrilling as the most sensational drama"

BECAUSE During 1889 THE CENTURY is to have a series of engravings of the greatest pictures of the old Italian masters, made by Timothy Cole, the leading wood-engraver in the world, who has spent four years in Italy on this work; a series of "Strange True Stories of Louisiana," by Geo. W. Cable; occasional richly illustrated papers describing the scenes of the current International Sunday-school lessons; interesting illustrated papers on Ireland, and a series of humorous and pathetic Irish-American stories; a striking illustrated novelette, "The Romance of Dollard," by a new writer, and other novelettes to be announced later; supplemental war papers, untechnical and descriptive of special incidents; "Pictures of the Far West," by Mary Hallock Foote, etc., etc. We have not space here to announce all the new features. Let us send you (free) our "Catalogue of Special Publications," with original illustrations, containing full prospectus, special offer of back numbers to the beginning of the Siberian papers, etc. The November number, which begins the new volume, is for sale everywhere after November 1st. THE CENTURY costs 35 cents a number; $4.00 a year. Address THE CENTURY Co., 33 East 17th street, New York.

The Normal School

Ever since the state started there has been a complaint against the school trustees of some or all of the counties that they sent out of the country for teachers. With an abundant school fund there was a lack of facilities for educating teachers. Bishop Whitaker's School For Girls and the High schools of Virginia, Carson, Reno, Elko, Eureka and Winnemucca did much towards providing home teachers but the need of something more systematic was felt and a department was added to the University which has been highly successful. A large and enthusiastic class of the best quality of material immediately provided itself, and the school was organized admirably. President Brown was fortunate in securing a director with a national reputation and what is better than reputation, with a zeal and talent that carry everything before them. The GAZETTE has felt the warmest interest in this branch of our state educational machinery. We want Nevada children to have a Nevada education. We want them to receive their training from Nevada teachers who love the State and who understand it, who are part of it, and not from scoffers from the outside whose only care is to get their money when it is due. We hope to see this feature of our educational system fostered. It will provide an honorable and profitable vocation for many needy people and there is no reason why our girls and boys fitted as they are being fitted for this most honorable business should not only fill all our own desks but also supply vacancies in neighboring counties in California, Utah and Oregon.

Two articles appeared in our neighbor's columns this morning which we endorse. One was on the editorial page, headed "All Stand In," and credited to the Silver State. We agree with it in every particular. It appeared originally in the GAZETTE last Monday and we have not changed our mind about it at all.

The other article was in yesterday's Silver State and we intended to credit it to that paper, but we can now take it from the Journal and thus kill two birds with one stone. It is as follows:

Below we reproduce a section of State Supt. of Public Instruction Dovey's annual message to the Governor and Legislature:

The high schools of Nevada have measurably filled the want of a State Normal School, and to this laudable purpose have the principals and their subordinates bent their energies. These young teachers, though lacking in experience, bring that which is often new; they bring new, bright thought; professional zeal and enthusiasm in the work, which inspires their pupils and arouses public interest in education. When professional pride and zeal in the work has dried out, the teacher's mission is about ended. I am sorry to say that a few of the latter sort still remain.—The S. S. and J.

"The above remarks need no comment from our pen. Suffice it to say that when anything is well done let it alone.

Nevada needs a Normal School in order to train the teachers of the State. Give it a place in the State University."

Joking aside, we are delighted to see three such powerful advocates as Professor Dovey, the Silver State and the Journal working together in so good a cause as the support of the Normal School.

THE effects of the efforts of the Carson people to make respectable the brutal practice of prize fighting, has been shown in the death of young Coronado and the imprisonment of another young man charged with his murder. It is hardly probable that the immediate friends and relatives of these two unfortunates will feel like patronizing such exhibitions.

IN answer to our Verdi correspondent as to whether or not Prof. C. S. Young is still drawing the salary as Land Agent at Washington, D. C., we are able to state on the authority of State Controller Hallock that warrants have been issued for the above service up to December 31, 1888.

Trouble in Central Africa.

ZANZIBAR, Jan. 11.—Advices from the interior state that in October, Mwanga, King of Uganda, plotted to destroy his entire body guard, his intention being to abandon them on an island in lake Nyanza, where they would starve to death. The guards, who had been informed of the King's intentions, refused to enter the canoes which were to convey them to the island, but returned to the capitol and made on attack on Mwanga's palace. The King fled to escape the fury of the guards, and his brother, Kiewewa, was enthroned in his stead. Kiewewa appointed Christians to the principal offices. This enraged the Arabs, who murdered many of the Christian officials, and replaced them with Mahommadens. The Arabs returned to the English and French mission stations and killed many of the converts to Christianity. The mission boat, Eleanor, in which some persons who been converted by the French Missionaries were fleeing, was struck by a hippopotumus and sunk, five converts being drowned. Many letters for Emin Bey and Henry M. Stanley were destroyed by the burning of the missionary stations. The missionaries reached Usanbyio in safety. Msalala depot is safe. Mwanga, who is a prisoner at Magu, has appealed to the English missionaries for assistance. The Arabs have written to missionary McKay exulting in their triumph, and prophesying the extinction of all mission stations in Central Africa, in revenge for England's anti-slavery policy. They have proclaimed Uganda a Mohammedan kingdom.

Searching for the Dead.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 11.—Up to 10 o'clock this morning, the mangled remains of fourteen persons had been taken from the ruins of the buildings wrecked in Wednesday's storm; four more are known to be still buried under the debris, and six others are missing. Of the injured, three have died since their removal to the hospitals, and four others are in a critical condition. The remaining 32 are doing well. During the night the bodies of Charles McEwen and two unknown workmen were recovered, and at daylight the remains of the venerable Rev. Dr. Reed were found. Dr. Reed was 80 years old and a prominent resident of Alleghany City.

The Indianapolis Outrage.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 11.—The scenes around the Senate Chamber to-day were a mild repetition of those of yesterday. Colonel Robertson again demanded admission, saying that he was the Lieutenant Governor, but the doorkeeper informed him that it was his orders not to permit him to enter. The session was devoted to trivial matters. The President pro tem., Cox, presided without a protest from the Republicans.

Justice Matthews Improving.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Matthews, wife of Associate Justice Matthews of the Supreme Court of the United States, said this afternoon to an Associated Press representative, that the statements published regarding the serious condition of Justice Matthews, are entirely false; that he is now improving rapidly, has a good appetite, and is gaining strength fast.

A Railroad War Ended.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 11.—The crossing at Fort White, where the Portage extension of the Northern Pacific road crosses the Canadian Pacific, has been effected. The Canadian Pacific road men yesterday tore down their barricade and cleared away a "dead" engine and other obstructions, thus ending the railway war, and giving Winnipeg a complete victory.

Another Change.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—The extra trains between this city and Ogden, leaving here at 9 o'clock each morning, which were put on by the Central Pacific last October, will be temporarily discontinued next week. The discontinuance of these trains is said by Passenger Agent Goodman to be due entirely to the popularity of the second-class "tourist sleeper.

The Yantic's Yellow Fever Cases.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The United States steamer Yantic was inspected by the health official this morning. He reports Lieutenant Miles in a very precarious condition. Cadet Bristol and Yeoman Keller are much improved. The rest of the crew of the Yantic will probably undergo a quarantine of observation.

Congressional Matters.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The Senate met at 11 A. M. and spent a quarter of an hour gettting a quorum.

The Senate then resumed the consideration of the Tariff bill, the pending question being the amendment offered yesterday by Plumb, to strike out of paragraph 557 the words "except when frozen or packed in ice, or otherwise prepared by any process for preservation," so as to let the paragraph read simply "fresh fish" (free).

After a long debate, fresh fish were struck off the free list and put on the dutiable list at one-half cent per pound.

HOUSE.

Weaver of Iowa at once moved that when the House adjourned, it to be to Monday. After the count proceeded for half an hour without a quorum making its appearance, Randall demanded the yeas and nays and they were ordered, the motion having been defeated; yeas 2, nays 228. Weaver, who had voted in the negative, moved a reconsideration. Randall made the point that it was not in order to move to reconsider a vote upon a motion to adjourn to a day certain. The point was sustained by the Speaker. Weaver moved to take a recess until 1:30, but was again blocked by Randall with a point of order. He held that the motion was in the nature of business, and therefore not in order until the journal had been read, and the speaker decided the point well taken.

The journal was then read, and Weaver again began his dilatory motions. These were finally interrupted by Dibblee, who came forward with a conference report upon the Senate bill for the erection of a public building at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, which, notwithstanding Weaver's protest, the speaker ruled of a higher privilege than a motion to adjourn. The report having been read and the previous question demanded by Dibblee, Weaver moved to adjourn. The speaker decided that as the rules gave a conference report precedence over a motion to adjourn, a subsequent motion to adjourn could not deprive it of its precedence. This ruling did not facilitate matters much, as at 3 o'clock the House had been unable to reach a vote on the conference report, owing to the tactics of Weaver. The speaker seems inclined to resort to arbitrary measures to suppress the gentleman from Iowa.

Corrected List of the Dead.

READING, Pa., Jan 11.—No more bodies have been found in the ruins of the silk mill, and it is believed that all have been recovered. Several reported as killed have been found safe. The following is a corrected list of the dead: Emma Nestor, John Reber, Eva Leedo, Laura Kershner, Sallie Homer, Tillie Grow, Mary Fitzpatrick, Sallie Faust, Henry S. Crocker, Amelia Christman, Sallie C. Beckel, Ella Reidmauer, Tillie E. Schaeffer, Sallie Schaeffer, Barbara A. Seilliemer, Sarah Shade, William Snyder and Sophia F. Winkleman.

Those killed at the Philadelphia & Reading railroad paint shops were: Albert Laudenberger, John Foreman, John U. Kahler, Sheridan E. Jones and George A. Shaeffer.

Nervous Bondholders.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—A deputation of the Panama Canal bond-holders, headed by Count Dillon, President of the Union Desactioraires et Obligatires, to-day called upon Goblet, Minister of Foreign Agencies and pointed out the urgency of the necessity for the passage by the Senate, before the meeting of the canal company on January 26, of a bill to reform the bankruptcy laws. Goblet expressed sympathy with the bond-holders, but said the government is compelled to act in the matter with the greatest reserve.

A Question of Veracity.

SIDNEY, N. S. W., Jan. 11.—The reports of fighting between the Germans and the followers of the deposed King, Mataafa, in Samoa are confirmed. The Germans alledge that Mataafa's men fired the first shot, and the followers of Mataafa assert that the Germans first shot at a chief and his son.

A Continued Deadlock.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. Jan. 11.—The deadlock in the senate continues, and the Republicans say they will not allow it to be broken until the Democrats abandon the questions now in the courts, until the contests are settled. The House cannot work until the Senate organizes.

Plymouth Church Waning

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The Post says the financial affairs of Plymouth Church are in a crftical condition, indicating that there may be great difficulty in meeting the current expenses. Last year the expenditures exceeded the receipts by $20,000.

Four Prospectors Drowned.

THE NEEDLES, Cal., Jan. 10.—It is reported here that out of a party of seven prospectors who left here recently in a small boat for the new gold fields, four were drowned by the capsizing of the boat while going through rapids in the river below here.

The Reorganized Saints.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 11.—At a meeting held last night, arrangements were made for a world's conference on April 9, of the reorganized church of the Latter Day Saints. An attendance is expected from all parts of the world, to the number of 8,000.

Passenger Agents Meeting.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—About a dozen general passenger agents of the trunk lines, are in session here. It is understood they are discussing the plans proposed by the presidents at their meeting yesterday. C. P. Huntington to-day approved of the agreement.

Mekenzie Censured.

LONDON, Jan. 11—The Royal College of Surgeons, by a vote of twenty-one to two, passed a resolution censuring Dr. McKenzie for publishing his book on the case of the late Emperor Frederick.

A Dyspeptic Suicides.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 11.—J. B. Morrison, a prominent dentist, suicided at noon. Cause, dyspepsia.

The Intriguing Germans.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. — Consul-General Sewall of Samoa, who has been home several months, appeared before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. General Seawall was examined in secret at great length. He expressed the belief that the next mail will bring the news of further and more terrible conflicts between the Germans and natives; that the shedding of blood since he had left Samoa had radically changed the situation; that if it were not intended to yield to Germany the entire control of the islands, some decided action will have to be taken by the Powers.

He presented to the committee copies of the Samoan Times, published at Apai, containing accounts of the unprovoked and unexpected attack by a German war ship upon the natives, and of a meeting by the consuls of other nations, denouncing the act, and also the misleading and unfair statement by the German Consul. Sewall spoke of the studied and systematic efforts of the Germans in sending out news from Berlin concerning Samoa, to give the impression that America was the aggressor and the cause of the trouble. German oppression, he is further said to represent, is entirely responsible for any apparent division of the natives into hostile factions.

He described Tamaseses followers as comparatively a handful, who were threatened by an unpleasant dilemma if they failed to keep up the agitation against the native government, they feared death at the hands of their German allies, and if they escaped, the same fate awaited them at the hands of the natives, who considered them traitors to Samoa.

Challenge Accepted.

TORONTO, Jan. 11.—Wm. O'Connor has accepted Gaudaurs challenge to row three miles for a thousand dollars a side, at San Francisco about March first.

Pugilists Rotten-Egged.

TROY, N. Y., Jan. 11.—At the sparring exhibition last night between Kilrain and Mitchell, rotten eggs were thrown at the principals from the gallery.

That Cantankerous Old Woman

Described in the nursery ballad, who "lived upon nothing but victuals and drink," and yet would "never be quiet," was undoubtedly troubled with chronic indigestion. Her victuals, like those of many other elderly persons whose digestive powers have become impaired, didn't agree with her. This was before the era of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, or some one of her numerous friends and relatives would undoubtedly persuaded her to try the great specific for dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness. This would have been a measure of self-protection on their part, for she would soon have been cured and ceased to disturb them with her clamor. The most obstinate cases of indigestion, with its attendant heartburn, flatulence, constant uneasiness of the stomach and of the nerves, are completely overcome by this sovereign remedy. Chills and fever and bilious remittent, rheumatism and kidney troubles are also relieved by it.

BECK'S RESOLTTION.

His Reply to the Carson "Appeal's" Article.

EDITOR GAZETTE.—By your permission I wish to offer a few words concerning an editorial in the Carson Appeal, of this date, under the head of Beware of False Economy. Were it not that the question of reducing the current expenses of our State Government within the means of the people to pay is a general one, I would not in this manner refer to it, notwithstanding my name is mentioned. Personally I am not aggrieved and what I said in the Assembly on last Tuesday, and which gave rise to the editorial refered to was to give voice to what I believe to be the honest sentiments of the people of my county if not a large majority of the state. My suggestion was that a standing committee of the Assembly should be asked to consider the subject of reducing the salaries of state officers as one of the means to bring our current expenses of state government to correspond with our ability to pay, and by way of comment on my resolution, I suggested that a material reduction could be made without injury to the public service. To illustrate in a brief manner the difference in expense between Nevada and some other states I cited the fact that Oregon with a population of 275,000 people and a tax roll of $85,000,000, paid her Governor an annual salary of $1,500. That the great State of Iowa with 1,850,000 people, and a tax roll amounting to over $505,000,000, pays her Governor $3,000 a year; and then that Nevada, with a population of something like 50,000 people and taxable property amounting to something like $27,000,000, pays her Governor $5,000. Now, considering the fact that our population is growing less and with no material increase in taxable property, if the question of reducing the expenses of the State Government is not one of the provinces of a Legislator, then the good people of Washoe county have sent me to the wrong place. The Appeal comments as follows:

"The argument used by Mr. Beck is that some Eastern State with 2,000,000 inhabitants only pays its Governor $1,500 a year, and Nevada with 50,000 inhabitants ought to retrench.

"The formula is very simple, if Ohio, with 2,000,000 inhabitants, pays its Governor $1,500 a year, how much ought Nevada with 50,000 inhabitants, why, one-fortieth, of course, or $37.50."

Now, I submit that the formula may be used with equal pertinency the other way, so that what the Appeal suggests as the result of my reasoning will allow me to say that if 50,000 people in Nevada pay their Governor $5,000 a year, then Iowa, with 2,000,000 inhabitants, ought to pay forty times as much, or $200,000.

In conclusion I have simply to say that as long as our neighbors in California and other states refer to our many weaknesses I will consider it the duty of the Legislature to reduce our cost of government to correspond with our ability to pay. The following from the San Francisco Bulletin of date Jan 8th, will illustrate my last sentence.

The Nevada Degislature opened yesterday with a demand for retrenchment and reform. It is about time for Nevada to cut down her magnificent list of officers and salaries, and it is to be hoped that the next attempt will not be beaten by a technicality like that made at the last election.

Respectfully, BECK.

EYE OPENERS.

What John Walker and Wife have to Say.

RENO, January 10, 1889.

EDITOR GAZETTE: Many of the side walks in Reno are practically obstructed by trees growing so low that the branches fall across the path and switch passers-by in the face, pretty hard sometimes, especially if some one ahead bends one forward and then lets it go suddenly. Some of these trees are locusts with strong thorns, which would put any ones eye out if they were struck just right. Reno has such a lovely climate that an occasional walk is not only very pleasant, but healthy as well, and such recreations should be made as safe and agreeable as possible, in order to tempt people to take out-door exercise. Will you give us the benefit of the GAZETTE'S influence in the matter.

Respectfully,

JOHN WALKER AND WIFE.

That Government Building.

Bob Gordon has a communication in this morning's Journal taking the GAZETTE to task for publishing an item on Tuesday last relative to the financial embarrassment of the contractor of the Government building at Carson. While the GAZETTE has no disposition to injure any one, and sincerely hopes that everything is all right, it has nothing to take back.

Stock Shipments.

Fifteen cars of the North cattle, loaded at Iron Point and consigned to Horn & Chapman, San Francisco, were unloaded here yesterday and reloaded this morning. Joseph Wheeler loaded nine cars of beef cattle this morning which were consigned to Poley, Hilborn & Co., San Francisco.

Scotch Granite.

John Barrett of Reno, has one of the finest granite quarries on the coast, three miles from Washoe City. It is very much like Scotch granite and fully as good. He proposes to open it up the coming Summer.

Congratulatory.

The GAZETTE extends to Professor Miller the right hand of good fellowship, with the sincere wish that his wedded life may be all his fancy has painted it, and to Mrs Miller a hearty welcome to Reno.

Attention, Company C.

You are hereby ordered to appear at your Armory on Friday evening, January 11th. A full attendance is desired. R. H. LINDSAY, Captain.

BREVITIES.

Local and General Intelligence.

There are thirteen patients in the county hospital.

A large draft of miners was recently made in the Crown Point.

The machinery for the new mill at Verdi has began to arrive from the East.

The Rebekah ball last evening was largely attended and was a very pleasant affair.

D. C. Wheeler recently lost four steers and twenty sheep from eating wild parsnips.

At an early day the Legislature will be invited to visit the State institutions located at Reno.

The vestibule train passed West on time to-day, with 23 passengers—Asa Willis conductor.

The sporting papers of the State Capitol continue to advertise their contemplated prize fights.

Professor W. McN. Miller of the State University, and wife returned this morning from California.

Pat Brannan of Carson, convicted of assaulting an officer, has settled with the county by the payment of $300.

James Livingstone, foreman of the Crown Point and Belcher mines, died at Gold Hill yesterday morning of pneumonia.

The sidewalk between the Palace Hotel and the Nevada Theater stable is being permanently and substantially laid to-day.

Governor Waterman of California has appointed M. H. DeYoung of the San Francisco Chronicle, Commissioner to the Paris Exposition of 1889.

PERSONAL.

James T. Davis, of the Mound House, is visiting Reno friends.

Mrs Henry Johnson left last evening, for Oakland, on a visit to relatives.

Chas. Sherman, the Lassen county, Cal., stage man, went below last evening.

C. C. Wallace came down from Carson last evening on his way to San Francisco.

General R. M. Clark, left this morning for Winnemucca and Elko, on professional business,

Geo. T. Mills, paymaster of the V. & T. railroad, was in town last evening paying off for December.

Dr. H. H. Hogan and wife, left last evening for Los Angeles, expecting to be gone until about the 24th inst.

G. W. Grayson, of the Oakland butchering firm of Grayson, Owen & Co., passed west on to-day's vestibule train.

Ex-Senator Westerfield and wife, of Lyon county, left last night on a visit to their former home in Iowa, and Kentucky, expecting to be gone about six weeks

THE ECLIPSE AT LUNDY.

Capt. Townsend Relates What he Saw.

The eclipse came to pass according to programme, says the Homer Index. The sky was cloudless and all conditions favorable for smoked glass observations. When the sun was nearly obscured the ragged crags about us assumed a weird and corpsy aspect. If a snowslide and earthquake could have chipped in about that time it would have been a scene of unparalleled awfulness. As it was the top of Mount Gilcrest glistened in the uncanny glow like the polished scalp of a lecherous old duffer at a model artist show.

Under The Laurels.

A GAZETTE reporter was present at a rehearsal of the Parlor Dramatic Company, last evening, and found the play was entirely satisfactory and very enjoyable, and all that could be expected of an amatuer company. He was astonished in many portions of the performance at the successful manner in which the characters were assumed and could not think the members of the company were amateurs. All who attend to-morrow night are assured of a pleasant evenings amusement and the money expended will benefit many in the form of a Public Library. The prices have been fixed for the dress circle, reserved, $1; general admission, seventy-five cents; balcony, fifty cents. These prices should insure a crowded house.

Grape Culture.

Inyo county, Cal., will soon prove the adaptability of her soil and climate for grape culture. Several thousand cuttings passed through Reno for that county this morning. Many of the foothills of Nevada are adapted to the vine, and are awaiting the needed enterprise to give them a test.

Death of Mrs. Meder.

Under the head of "died" in to-days GAZETTE will be seen the death notice of Mrs. B. H. Meder, of Carson City, who passed away yesterday morning in the presence of her family. Deceased was a devoted and loving wife and mother, and was greatly beloved by all.

Entitled to the Best.

All are entitled to the best their money will buy, so every family should have, at once, a bottle of the best family remedy, Syrup of Figs, to cleanse the system when costive or bilious. For sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medican I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of other have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at S. J Hodgkinson Drugstore.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C.—Get a free trial bottle at S. J. Hodgkinsons.

Octave Feuillet, the author, is 76.

Many young ladies are ruining their Complexion by the continued use of poisonous cosmetics and so-called face washes. The greater number of these preparations contains mineral poisons, that in time, shrivel up the skin and give the appearance of dissipation and old age. Dutards Specific is not a paint but a great beautifier, inasmuch as it removes all blemishes from the skin, in stead of covering them. It cures chapped hands with one application. Sold by William Pinniger.

David D. Field, the lawyer, 83.

Derangement of the liver covers a multitude of ailments. In all cases where the function of the liver are interrupted or disturbed, and the bile, its constituent secretion, left circulating in the blood, some disorder will follow. Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic will restore the liver to its natural duties and promote the secretion of bile, there by preventing Jaudice, Dyspespiy, bill ousness and other ailments. Sold by Wm. Pinniger.

Valuable Information.

Section 1. Article 1—C. W. Booton, of the Opera House Dry Goods Store, begs leave to call the attention of the public to bear in mind that he has put in a fine and well selected stock of boots and shoes made by the famous Nolan Brothers, of San Francisco. The quality of this firms make is too well known to need any comment, also my stock of ready-made clothing is second to none now in this city for quality and reasonable prices; good suits for men from $6 50 per suit up; boys suits from $2 50 per suit up.

Section 2. Article1—Any intelligent community, especially such as resides in Reno, were tired and disgusted long ago of reading advertisements quoting prices reduced from so and so to so and so,; for instance, you see advertised to-day in the papers a corset reduced from $1 to 55cts,; now there must be something wrong, to charge ladies $1 for a corset for some time, then reduce it to 55cts. I sell the same corset for 50cts, in all sizes and never asked any more, as it is my regular price. Article 2—In this mornings paper may also be seen a description of ladies cloth 36 inches wide selling for 25cts per yard, all ladies who are at all posted, know there is no such thing as a ladies cloth 36 inches wide, if perchance there may be such a thing in the catagory dry goods, out of respect to the ladies, I would not advertise it for sale for I know it would not give satisfaction; see my all wool fine quality of TRECOT dress goods all shades, for 40cts sold everywhere for 75cts per yard.

Section 3. Article 1—I sell white merino vests for 35cts each, all sizes, which is my regular price. I sell hemstitched, colored bordered, handkerchiefs for 4cts each and make no blow about it like our cotemporary who sells them for 5cts each. I sell a nice black jersey for 50cts which is the regular price, it is not reduced from $1 as some would have you to believe. I sell a pure linen damask towel with fancy designs on center and fancy border. This towel is 40 inches long, and I positively say that wherever it is kept in stock on this coast it is retailed for 50cts. I sell it for 25cts, if this towel is not as I advertise it, I will charge nothing for it. Call and see it.

Section 4. Article 1—Please note again, you see advertised frequently RHADAMES reduced from $2 to $1 25, this is a repetition of section 2, article 1, you will see there is a profit of 75cts per yard taken off which is an enormous profit and as no one sells goods for cost, even then, at $1 25 per yard, there must be still a profit. Now I sell good rhadames for $1 yer yard, which I suppose other merchants sell for $2 per yard.

Section 4. Article 1—I sell an excellent quality of black silk for $1 per yard. The ladies frequently tell me they paid $2 per yard for the same article down street, I don't doubt it in the least; but the time has arrived when high prices will reign no longer in Reno on dry goods, boots and shoes and clothing, and the amount of goods I turn out daily is a sufficient guarantee that the people of Reno appreciate a one price cash store, all goods marked in plain figures. Respectfully,

C. W. BOOTON.

THE MARCH OF PROGRESS!

OUR LATEST IMPROVEMENTS!

"Competition is the Life of Trade," and if you have not seen our latest improved goods you cannot imagine how lively trade is, or how hard our competitors have to work to keep within sight of us. Ask your retailer for the JAMES MEANS' $3 SHOE, or the JAMES MEANS' $4 SHOE according to your needs.

Positively none genuine unless having our name and price stamped plainly on the soles. Your retailer will supply you with shoes so stamped if you insist upon his doing so; if you do not insist, some retailers will coax you into buying inferior shoes upon which they make a larger profit.

Such has been the recent progress in our branch of industry that we are now able to affirm that the James Means' $3 Shoe is in every respect equal to the shoes which only a few years ago were retailed at eight or ten dollars. If you will try on a pair you will be convinced that we do not exaggerate. Ours are the original $3 and $4 Shoes, and those who imitate our system of business are unable to compete with us in quality of factory products. In our lines we are the largest manufacturers in the United States.

One of our envelope salesmen who is now visiting the shoe retailers of the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain Region writes from there as follows:

"I am more than satisfied with the results of my trip. I have thus far succeeded in placing our full line in the hands of A No. 1 dealers in every point I have visited." He goes on to say: "This is a splendid region for us to sell shoes in, because most of the retailers are charging their customers at retail about double the prices which the shoes have cost at wholesale. The consequence is that the people who wear shoes are paying six or seven dollars a pair for shoes which are not worth as much as our JAMES MEANS' $3 and $4 SHOES. Our shoes with their very low retail prices stamped on the soles of every pair are breaking down the high prices which have hitherto ruled in the retail markets here, and when a retailer puts a full line of goods in his stock they at once begin to go off like hot cakes, so great is the demand for them."

Now, kind reader, just stop and consider what the above signifies so far as you are concerned. It assures you that if you keep on buying shoes bearing no manufacturers' name or fixed retail price stamped on the soles, you cannot tell what you are getting and your retailer is probably making you pay double what your shoes have cost him. Now, can you afford to do this while we are protecting you by stamping our name and the fixed retail price upon the soles of our shoes before they leave our factory so that you cannot be made to pay more for your shoes than they are worth?

Shoes from our celebrated factory are sold by wide-awake retailers in all parts of the country. We will place them easily within your reach in any State or Territory if you will invest one cent in a postal card and write to us.

JAMES MEANS & CO., 41 Lincoln St., Boston, Mass.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Possesses the greatest possible power to heal and control affections of the throat and lungs, with absolute safety for children or adults. The experience of years has proven it to be of inestimable value as a household medicine, and for professional use. Thousands of physicians and families testify to its great worth. Jas. E. Moling, Hilliard, Ohio, writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for twelve years, and have found that, as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, or Sore Throats, it

Is Unequaled.

J. I. Miller, editor of the "Lutheran Home," Luray, Va., writes: "I advertise nothing that I do not know to be good. I was saved from the grave, I am sure, by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and have recommended it to others with the happiest results." L. J. Addison, M. D., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I have never found, in thirty-five years of continuous study and practice in medicine, any preparation of so great value as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for treatment of diseases of the throat and lungs; and I constantly recommend it to my patients. It not only breaks up colds and cures severe coughs, but is effective in relieving the most serious bronchial and pulmonary affections."

John J. Uhlman, Brooklyn, N.S., writes: "Twelve years ago, I was afflicted with a severe bronchial trouble, pronounced by a skilful physician to be very dangerous, and liable to terminate in Pneumonia. After using one bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I found great relief, and an occasional use of it since that time has, I think, extended my life ten years at least." Mrs. V. M. Thebaud, Montreal, Canada, writes: "Last spring my daughter was attacked by membraneous croup, or diphtheria. The doctor prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which cured her of the diphtheria. Being still very weak and sick, she began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which restored her to vigorous health."

Many persons contract severe colds during the early winter months and permit them to hang on persistently all winter; weakening the lungs and paving the way for catarrh, chronic, bronchites, or consumption. No one can afford to neglect a cold. A single bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure the most severe cold, and cost but 50 cts. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

A number of Oregon farmers are being sued by a Boston company on a bond which they swear they did not sign.

The dry cold weather of the early winter months is productive of a great deal of croup among children. Mothers should be on the lookout for it and be prepared to arrest it as soon as the first symptoms appear. True croup never comes without a warning; a day or two before the attack the child will become hoarse, and that symptom is soon followed by a peculiar, rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the hoarseness or cough appears, all danger and anxiety may be avoided; it has never failed, even in the most severe cases. There is no danger in giving the Remedy for it contains no injurious substance. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

FASHIONABLE BR...

...e my cloak—and now fix my veil, Je...
How silly to cover one's face!
I might as well be an old woman;
But then there's one comfort—it's lace.
Well, what has become of these ushers?
Oh, Pa, have you got my bouquet?
I'll freeze standing here in the lobby—
Why doesn't the organist play?
They've started at last—what a bustle!
Stop, Pa!—they're not far enough—wait!
One minute more—now!—do keep step, Pa!
There, drop my trail, Jane!—is it straight?
I hope I look timid and shrinking;
The church must be perfectly full—
Good gracious! now don't walk so fast, Pa!—
He don't seem to think that trains pull.
The chancel at last—mind the step, Pa!—
I don't feel embarrassed at all.
But, my! what's the minister saying?
Oh, I know; that part 'bout St. Paul.
I hope my position is graceful;
How awkwardly Nellie Dane stood!—
"Not lawfully be joined together—
Now speak!"—as if any one would!—
Oh, dear! now it's my turn to answer—
I wish that Pa would stand still.
"Serve him, love, honor and keep him"
How sweetly he says it—I will.
Where's Pa? There, I knew he'd forget it.
When the time came to g ve me away—
'I, Helena, take thee—love—cherish—
And"—well, I can't help it—"obey."
Here, Maud, take my bouquet—don't drop it!
I hope Charley's not lost the ring;
Just like him!—no!—goodness, how heavy,
It's really an elegant thing.
It's a shame to kneel down in white satin—
And the flounce, real old lace—but I must;
I hope they have got a clean cushion,
They're usually covered with dust.
All over—ah! thanks, now don't fuss, Pa—
Just throw back my vail. Charley—there—
Oh, bother! why couldn't he kiss me
Without muss ng up all my hair?
Your arm, Charley, there goes the organ—
Who'd think there would be such a crowd?
Oh, I mustn't look round; I'd forgotten—
See, Charley, who was it that bowed?
Why—it's Nellie Allaire, with her husband—
She's awfully jealous, I know.
'Most of all my things were imported,
And she had a home-made trousseau;
And there's Annie Wheeler—Kate Hermon—
I didn't expect her at all—
If she's not in that same old blue satin
She wore at the charity ball!
Is that Fanny Wade?—Edith Parton—
And Emma, and Jo—all the girls;
I knew that they'd not miss my wedding—
I hope they'll notice my pearls.
Is the carriage there?—give me my cloak, Jane—
Don't get it all over my vail—
No, you take the other seat, Charley,
I need all this for my trail.

A DETECTIVE'S STORY.

Why He Is Not on the Force Any More.

Two men sat together in the rear seat of a smoking car on one of our railroads and chatted familiarly of the ups and downs of a miner's life, the topic being suggested by a landscape dotted with coal-breakers and furrowed with coal roads.

The freedom and interest of their conversation did not seem to be dampened by the fact that the younger of the two carried a revolver, while his companion wore a pair of those uncoveted articles of jewelry which are known in criminal circles as "bracelets."

The few persons who had observed them learned from the confidential brakeman that they were a noted detective and his prisoner on the way to trial. As far as ages went the pair might have been taken for father and son, the fine gray head of the one contrasting strongly with the crisp brown curls of his captor.

What crime had been committed the brakeman did not know, but hazarded a conjecture that it "must have been a pretty bad one, or George Munsen wouldn't have took the trouble to put them things on his wrists."

Presently the brakeman and the conductor satisfied the joint demands of etiquette and curiosity by stopping to exchange a few words with the detective; the former then perched himself upon the coal-box directly behind the prisoner, and the latter dropped magnificently into the seat in front. The train was sweeping around a curve and past a ruined trestle on the hillside at which both of the passengers looked with some interest.

"I remember that place," said the older man.

"So do I," responded the younger; "I was born there. Came near being buried there, too," he resumed after a moment's pause.

"How was that?"

"It's a pretty long story," said the detective, "but I guess we'll have time for it between this and the next station. Way up there on the slope is the little settlement where I made my debut, so to speak; from it to the bottom of the hill there used to be a gravity road—a long, winding track reaching from the settlement down to the top of a bank wall of earth where a slide occurred the year I was born. On both sides of the track grew saplings that had sprung up since the disaster (what I am telling you occurred five years later), and they crowded the road and hung over the old rusty rails on which the coal cars used to run. You must remember that the houses were built near the mouth of the pit—that was one of the first mines worked in this country, and one of the first to be abandoned. Time I am telling about, some men were walking up track, and a lot of children playing near the top, climbing in and out of an old car which had lain there since it made its last trip with the broken spraggs still in its wheels.

"The men were miners, all but one of them, who questioned his companions about their work and the country they lived in. He was evidently a stranger.

"Presently, as they talked, a shout from the top of the slope attracted their attention, and they looked up just in time to see the car begin to move slowly down the grade.

"There was an impatient exclamation from the oldest man in the party. 'Them brats is always up to some mischief,' he said. 'They have started that old thing off at last; I've been expectin' to see it go at any time this five year. They'll be breaking their necks yet with their tom-fooling.' And another of the group added: 'We must dust out of this lively, unless we want to get our necks broke; she'll either jump the rail or go to pieces at the bottom; lucky there ain't no one aboard of her.'

"The stranger was looking anxiously up at the approaching runaway. His quick eye had caught sight of something round and golden above the car rim.

"'There's a child in that car,' he said, quietly.

"It was a second or two before his companions realized the awful meaning of that statement. A child! That was as if he had said that in a few moments some one—perhaps one of themselves—would be childless.

"With one impulse they turned to look at the broken rails at the edge of the fault. Shuddering, they fixed their eyes again on the approaching mass, then hopelessly at each other. They could not dream of stopping the progress of the car. But, quick as thought almost, the stranger took hold of a sapling and bent it down till it nearly touched the track. 'Hold on,' he said to one of the men, 'it will help to check her.' A rod further down another and then a third and fourth were held in the same way. So four of the party waited for a few breathless seconds, while the two remaining ones hurried further down; but one more effort and the car was upon them. The first obstacle was whipped out of the hands of the strong man who held it and the car rushed on to the second with hardly lessened force. Again the barrier was brushed aside, but this time the speed of the old wreck was perceptibly less. By the time the fifth obstruction was reached the newcomer was able to clamber aboard and throw the child into the arms of his companion, but before he had time to save himself the old truck had regained something of its momentum and was plunging on toward the precipice.

"Well, the man jumped just as they reached the edge, just before his vehicle shot over into the air, but he had very little time to choose his ground, and so landed, as luck would have it, on the only heap of stones in sight. The others picked him up for dead and carried him up to the settlement, where the miners held a regular wake over him. But he came to life in the middle of the festiv—the obsequies, I mean—and found that he was only crippled for life.

"The miners—folks not easily moved, were enthusiastic about the affair, and gave such testimonials as they could to show their gratitude and appreciation. One of these expressions took the form of a souvenir, signed by every man in the place, and stating in very grandiloquent language what the poor fellow had done. His quick wit seemed to them more wonderful than his courage and devotion, in a community where neither quality is unusual at all.

"The man who takes his own life in his hand every day, and has frequently to fight for the life of some companion values a 'brainy' action. In the box with the testimonial was a purse of fifty dollars and a curious old gold cross, that had been treasured by the brother of the lad who was saved as his one piece of finery. On it was rudely engraved these words:

"'Given by the miners at the Notch to the man who risked his life for a child.'

"That was all. The poor fellow went away and would have been forgotten, only that the old miners told the story sometimes to their children."

The prisoner was looking out of the window. The conductor rustled around as though ashamed of the interest he had shown in the story—a story which he did no doubt was pure fiction. Only the brakeman gave way to his sympathy, and asked whether the man had ever been found.

"Not that I know of," replied the detective.

"And was you the boy what he saved?"

"I was the kid."

"And you never heer'd tell what became of the man—what would you do if you shu'd come acrost him some time?" Evidently the brakeman had an imagination which was trying to assert itself.

"Oh! I'd try to even the thing up somehow. I suppose common decency would demand that. I'd treat him as well as I knew how."

"Look here," said the prisoner, turning from the window with an apparent effort to change a conversation which for some reason had not seemed to interest him—"look here, old man, I've got a little keepsake that your story just reminded me of, and if I could get at it I'd ask you to take charge of it for me till—till this thing is over. If you'll put your hand in there and pull out that bit of ribbon; so—"

The conductor almost jumped out of his seat. "Blamed if it ain't the cross that you've just been telling about," he shouted.

A month later the detective was undergoing a cross-examination by the conductor and brakeman.

"Yes, he was a bad lot. Oh, yes, he didn't have a leg to stand upon. The facts were all as clear as day. All true about the cross and the rest of it? Just as true as gospel. What had he been doing? Throwing bombs the last thing. Punished? Well, to tell you the truth, they won't be apt to punish him till they catch him again, I guess. Fact is, he got away from me somehow that same night. Who, me? Oh, no, I'm not on the force any more. I've been bounced."—Lowell (Mass.) Courier.

FEMININE INTUITION.

Omaha Youth—(After a long absence)—Who is that pretty girl?

Sister—Clara DeVere. Isn't she lovely; she thinks you are handsome.

"Eh?"

"But she wonders where you got that hat."

"What?"

"It is out of style here, and she can't understand why a man who wears such well-fitting clothes, the latest style, too, should have on such clod-hopper boots."

"Great Cæsar, Sis, how do you know all that?"

"I saw her look at you as she passed!"

HE THOUGHT HE HAD HIM.

Pat made a bet of a dollar with Mike that he could carry a hod full of bricks up three ladders to the top of a building, with Mike sitting on the hod.

The ladders were on the outside of the building. On the third ladder Pat made a misstep, but caught himself in time to save Mike falling forty feet to the stone sidewalk.

Arriving at the top, Pat said: "Begorra, I've wan the dollure."

"Yis," replied Mike, "but whin ye shlipped I thought I had ye."

THE ONE SHE WANTED.

"How much for this melon?" she asked at the market yesterday, as she indicated her choice.

"That melon, madam, is a green one."

"But how much?"

"You wouldn't want it at all, madam, as it would disappoint you."

"But I do want it, sir, and here's a dime for it."

"Ah! how dull I am to-day, to be sure!" sighed the man, as he looked after her. "She keeps a boarding-house, of course."
